Pro Se study group - my limited experience assisting a Pro Se family involves a Stalking case. These Adult abuse/stalking cases are a sort of hybrid civil case. Petitioners are not required to pay a filing fee. This one arises from a property line and not a domestic dispute. Am not really experienced in either type. Have furnished only "unbundled services" on limited basis and mostly suggestions and assistance with pleadings in form of motions as case already filed when Petitioners made contact at this office. Avoiding being counsel of record but can anticipate hearing when making comments to Court in nature of "friend of court" could arise and be helpful in case. Have not known of such an episode and interested in any thoughts or comments by those of you who have been studying these subjects. Thank you and have printed out some of your preliminary reports on Pro Se and pro bono study results. Randall Palmer.
